

*This is not some kind of a project, it can be implemented here and now on our Earth. There will be no superstars or tycoons because there are no such professions. You will be able to go out and know everything that you have in common with every person in visual range and go have a dinner with a random person at his expense, because there will be no such thing as "expense"(!) and there will be no random people either(!)- entities like "distrust", "envy" or "greed" will not make sense. No lines or queues, no traffic jam or incidents, all paid before you even consumed it when it got delivered to your door. There will be neither need nor offer, just globally automated implementation of interest and necessities of each individual soul. People will work not because they need anything but because they will have an opportunity to explore their talents, advance their skills and choose to do what they are fond of for mutual development and inspiration. There will not be a blame of what you have done or have not because you would want to do as much as you can at your own choice in non-monetary conditions. Welcome to the Free Share Prosperity automation. You are reading the good news of already existing technology innovations and inner human abilities.

Manual on how to establish Heaven on Earth today.

The WoG Program -Free World by technological innovation_ or “How Bluetooth 7.0 and the integrated non-monetary offer-to-need automation network saved the World” (Highschool Course 2022 “History of the Future”)

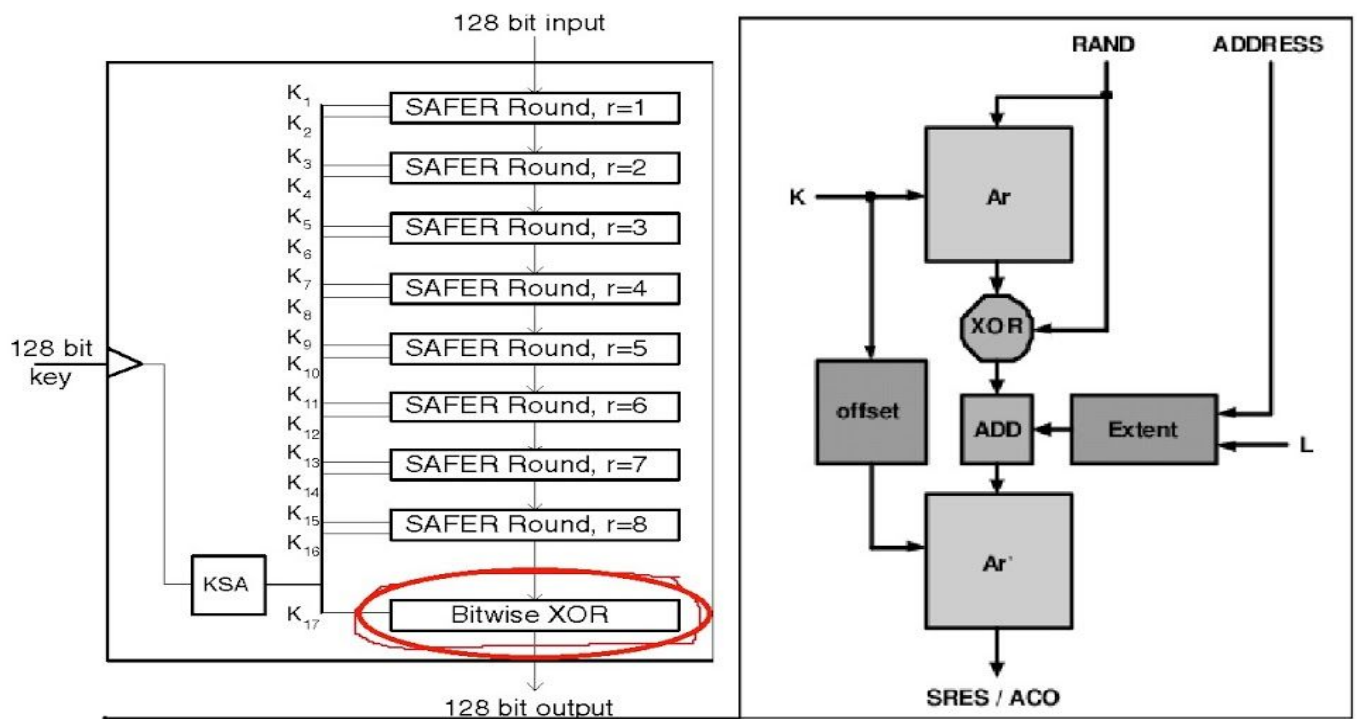

Matter: Global Socializing Change by ad hoc technology(already discovered but deprived)/ new world order implementation/ reality perception shift and return to initial values of non-monetary basis;

Ascending scale: Communism>> Capitalism>> Bluetooth with love (unrestrained)+ automated network as new world order automation network at Free-Sharing Prosperity.

Potential consequences: soul-to-soul world reconciliation, immediate consequent elimination of destructive capitalistic system and monetary based entities by technological innovation and establishing initial WoG with advantages for every individual human being.

The beginning of this world will start with a disclaimer: “I only choose to exchange my personal information on basis of interest match with yours and in case of our mutual compatibility”.

The Bluetooth facility can make a connection that will be based on initiating by both sides on mutual as-you-go interest basis, rather than of what it is now- initiating it by one side (known as master-to-slave mode). And this is what makes an unobvious but vital difference. Let me explain:

I would like to change the method that Bluetooth is currently functioning upon, which will make person-to-person connection more versatile interactionwise and safer than its current Protocol, this will involve changing its security mode from "LIMIT PHYSICAL INTERACTION TO PERMIT EXCHANGE OF SPECIFIC SYNTH DATA" into "LIMIT REGISTERED SPECIFIC SYNTH DATA (by matching it between activated bluetooth accounts) TO PERMIT EXCHANGE OF PHYSICAL INTERACTION AUTOMATICALLY" (in real time mode & signal range). If I can build a new operator based on ad hoc network that will be able to make a real-time simultaneous automatic connections, based on mutual offer/need interest match, prior prescribed by both sides, unlike current "master-to slave" IOT Bluetooth, the world as we perceive it will change in a matter of days. For example, besides from the fact that wherever people go- the strangers around them in visual range (up to 400m) will be already familiar to them by one interest match or another- one can get his life saved if he's got a heart attack and there is a hospital in 400m range (which is the matched offer in this case for his health state), or say, if you need to pay a bill in the post office- you don't need to look for a parking place or wait in a queue, once you press YES button while you stand in the traffic light near the post office on your way home- it is already paid through ad hoc with your Bluetooth "unrestrained".

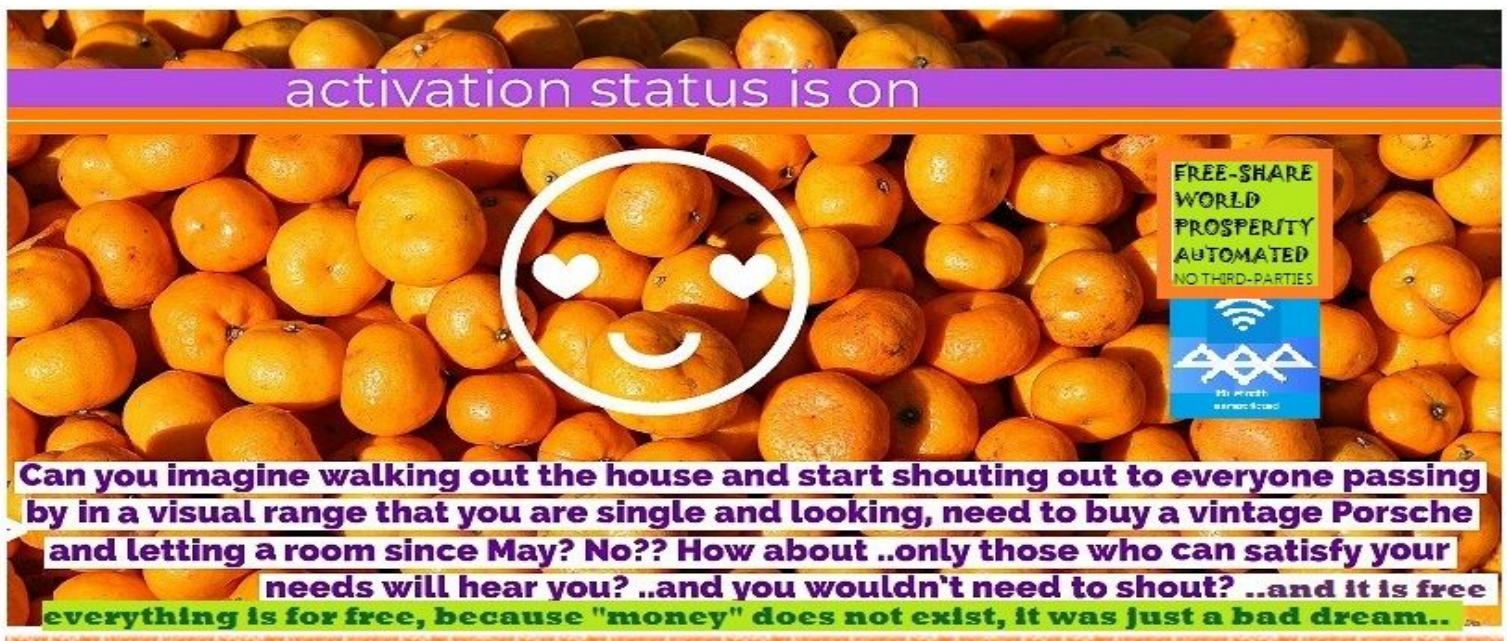

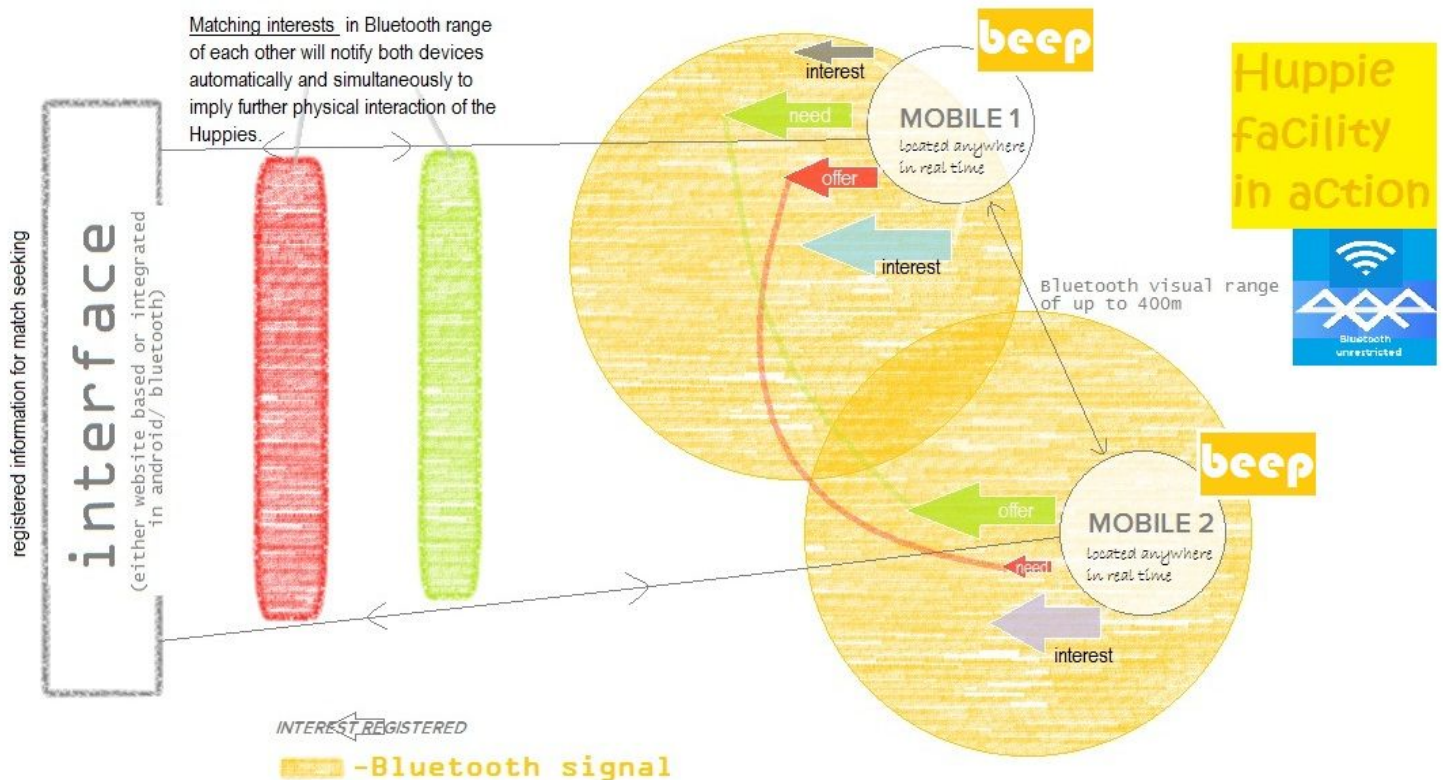

IF there is a future, then this is where it is and not in Bluetooth IOT special interests.

max-fast-off-sky

(In case you didn't know) as a device, Bluetooth can exclude authentication for pairing procedure and can be authorized by interest-match automatically (ie. two people are actually looking for each other without knowing or getting distracted from their regular day schedule) within their visual range on basis of matching the data assigned prior in web database or interface downloaded to the mobiles, this applies to all approaching each other signal carriers.

This can become the most important and vital connection between people (as you soon may find out) along with the offer-to-need self-updating automation network. Here and now we can provide the sharing prosperity freedom, in the first place generated on curiosity appetite and human need to “find more answers” as well as fulfilling our necessities on instant basis, and later on- for consciousness shift to initial values and soul reconciliation and unity with inner source.

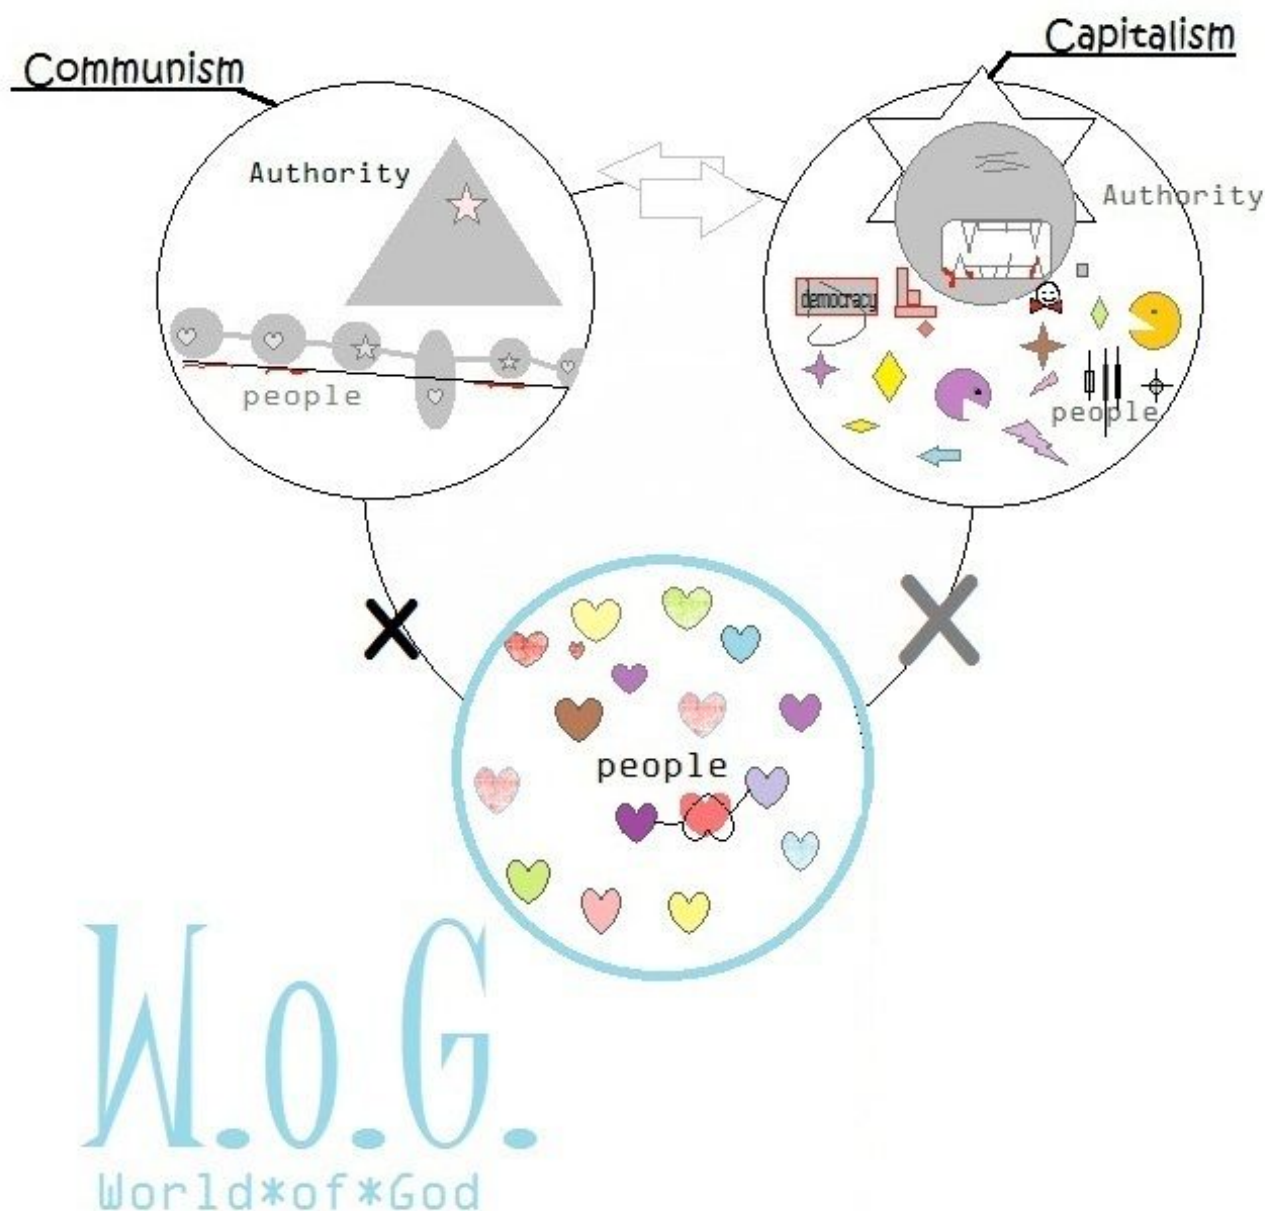

Welcome to the near future world, Vladimir, our initial world -just before Eve bit the apple :) It is up to you to press the YES button.

If you have not believed in extrasensory perception, you need to reassume your opinion -because now you do have ESP yourself. Immediately recognizing people in a visual range(!), the ones that you have never met before but now both of you simultaneously know what exactly you have in common without saying a word to each other.

As soon as the automated ex-government network will exclude money out of circulation (!) you will observe this world return to its initial state of innocence, just make a pause for a second and see how far away is the current people's dimension of consciousness from this kind of perception of the world, where would each of us be if not the artificial and damaging measure of distrust, called money?

People will find out why are they given their physical frame and have an opportunity to interact with each other in the way they are, it will soon start to make sense acquiring their inner harmony as a response to appropriate treating and caring for alike souls - the physical exchange of goods will be based on mutual devotion- the more good you give to alike soul, the better you live in the first place. With this immediate soul reconciliation and instantly fulfilling needs, everyone will start exploring and maintain crafts of their favour or choose to collaborate with others, consequently getting more harmony within themselves and people around them.

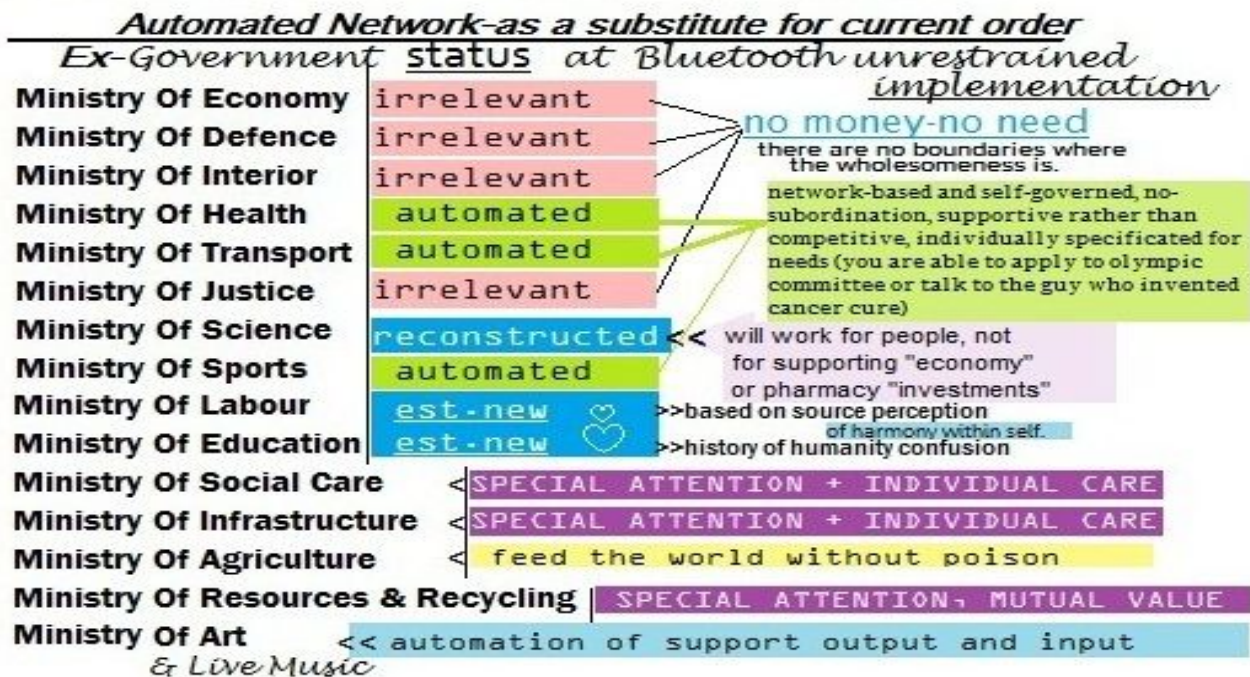

In non-monetary automated environment every person can do whatever he is pleased(!) because the society lacks motivation for making damage or experiencing fear. You may consume any product/ service and produce whatever your soul is build for, exploring yourself, learning new skills and correlating with automated need-offer-interest society network for mutual free-shared prosperity. The more unreciprocated good you bring to people- the more wholesome you will feel.

Order of things in the near future as a result of Free Sharing under WoG

This is a new reality perspective of automated world social structure with overwhelming potential, which humanity has known at all times. With elimination of money, and ambition for generating it there will be no necessity in governments, ministries or law as we know it.

The values will come back to initial creativity and mutual support. the security and education will be based on unwinding souls from lack of information, rather than on treat-or-punishment basis.

The Education will NOT be based on ambition to "SUCCEED IN LIFE" as of greed-generating cause and/or life-support and security concern. It will rather be cultivating the resources to explore your own innate inner abilities, updating and advancing the skills that you have talents to, which will stimulate creativity to develop generally and motivation to support others, rather than mercantilism and challenging others at materialistic achievements. There will be no use in currently motivating words, like "SUCCESS", because success will simply mean a completion of a scheduled process with a reward of self realisation. Every person acquires initial abilities of core creation (currently identified by two outputs-logic and creativity), whoever and wherever you were "raised by/at", and whichever "traces of character" you currently may assign yourself to, or attain by experience,- you have potentially unlimited abilities which you would need to explore by yourself in the first place. It is neither possible in current circuit of values and the state of consciousness, nor at conditions of time-and-effort ripping "self & system-support" existence. In the very near future our education will turn to initial self root-mapping and soul-consistency path exploration that will work wonders for future progressions. We are one step away from exploring the whole new world from scratch.

At the moment it is hard to detach our consciousness out of the swamp we have all been put into, for thousands of years, by souls to which majority of us are striving of replication because of the current state of values, nevertheless in years to come initial policies like "clean whatever is dirty, feed whoever is hungry and give a hug to whoever is lonely or sad" and get your soul feel good as a result, on mutual and global basis- will be regular and well appreciated. This order of things will excel in both- efficacy and effectiveness for further technological achievements and potential inspiration and virtue, not to mention spiritual relief, compared to the current system, which is based on competitiveness ratrace speculations like "become better than your neighbour", "get more than your friends", "don't care about the rest and do whatever is good for you", or say.. "enjoy life in full because there will not be another". There actually will, and it has just started..

Our world will be soon ruled by automated, accessible and editable by anyone-network with soul-to-soul approach:

If you are hungry- you choose food in automation network and it gets delivered to you with no reciprocation or "offers", you simply tip people with a smile or a wink.

If you do not have a place to live- you fill application in automated network and it either guides you to your new apartment or sends a request to people who deal with construction and build it for you.

The transportation automation will provide need and offer links for safe and stress free logistics, the opera and the theatre will schedule a spectacular evening for you and your partner. If you still do not have one- just go outside and walk to wherever people are present to meet your match of interest using your unrestrained bluetooth connector (for now, as our consciousness becomes clear it will not be needed at all).

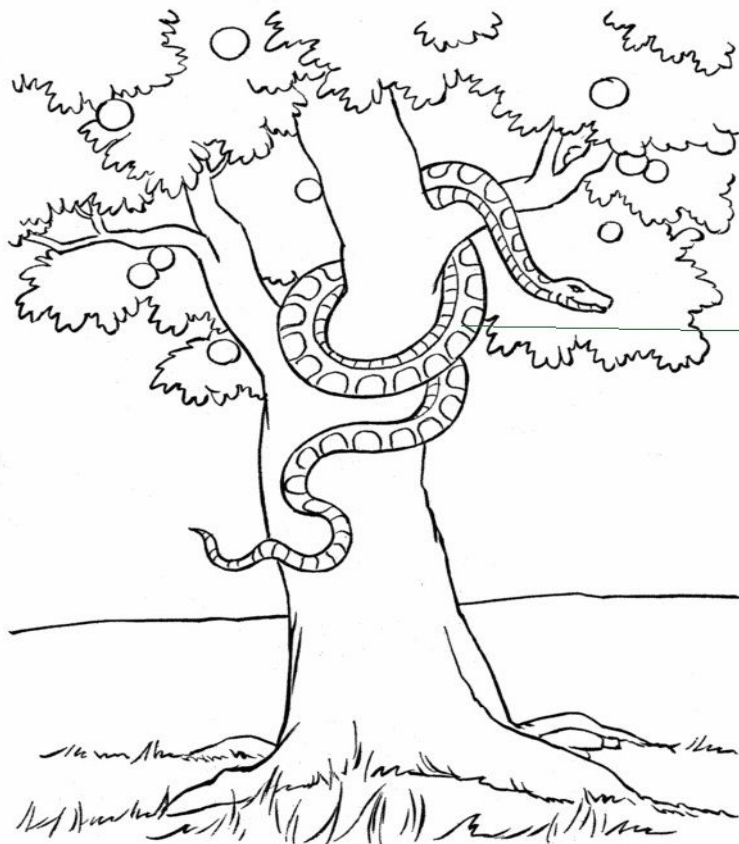

If you want to go with your wife and kids for vacation- you simply choose a destination and schedule your trip, get the tickets and do it- neither will anyone ask you to give and do anything in return nor will you need to think if it is expensive or not- because you live in non-monetary decent, self-harmonized society: sail yachts, bathe in sunset beach jacuzzi, it is all meant for people, like you and the stranger you see on the street. There will be no strangers anymore, because the causes of distrust, anger and anxiety are eliminated. And this, my friend, opens a whole new perspective of time, space and inspiration in our life.

The Sharing prosperity that occurs, is neither based on accumulating, nor on speculation of any sort, you just share "good" with people and get even more good in return, and the more it is not filled physically, the better and more intense it is multiplied spiritually at you soul (you probably forgot how it feels so I just say the same way as currently to your bank account top-up). Consequently we return to our source and the consequent unwinding of ourselves to the initial point of goodness.

You are both -the consumer and the producer with mutual spiritual values with people like you, and in these conditions you can manage to be anyone or do anything whatever is on your mind, because whatever good skill you choose to learn or act upon- will be needed by someone else, and guess what-with exclusion of money, all skills will be good and needed all over sudden.

Everything of current- will lose sense and relevance because of change in priorities, there will be no priorities apart from feeling good (which will mean caring for alike souls)- just imagine no vanity, greed or envy-based ambitions.

Imagine people are calling/treating you not as "a citizen", "fellow" or "Mr/Mdm" but "our dearest source of light". In spite of the fact that you are physically containing 15 kilo of shit- they speak with your soul, because that is what you are essentially. Say, in current world somebody insulted you or your relatives, you have been practising karate since you were 5 but it didn't help because he broke your arms with the stick, your rage is immense and you hire a killer after a few weeks and punish this guy, you feel really good about yourself! Ok, what then? you have just managed to take physical life of a confused soul, during the next span of your physical life from this point you'll be looking into this matter and examining it at "what if" perspective without understanding why, this conflict might not be over and impact your relatives either, resonating on further circumstances, and guess what-apart from fostering your momentarily ego in this world it didn't do anything energywise, just a profound damage to your own soul and the souls around you..- all would be different if you did not miss the opportunity of making a friend out of the enemy and discovering harmony in both of you. The transformation from master-to-slave mode into partner-to partner (and later from dearest-to-dearest one) is essentially what is going to happen with humanity- at the moment people are puzzled with who they are and what is the way to become free to extent they either end their life or unconsciously follow anyone who is "confident of himself" and has some kind of a "power" or "leadership" above others as they imagine, even intuitively at situations.

Pictures from Eden represent the scale and the matter prior morality choice-making took place, rather than just a "tree of knowledge", "fruit of no return" or "devil" in perspective.

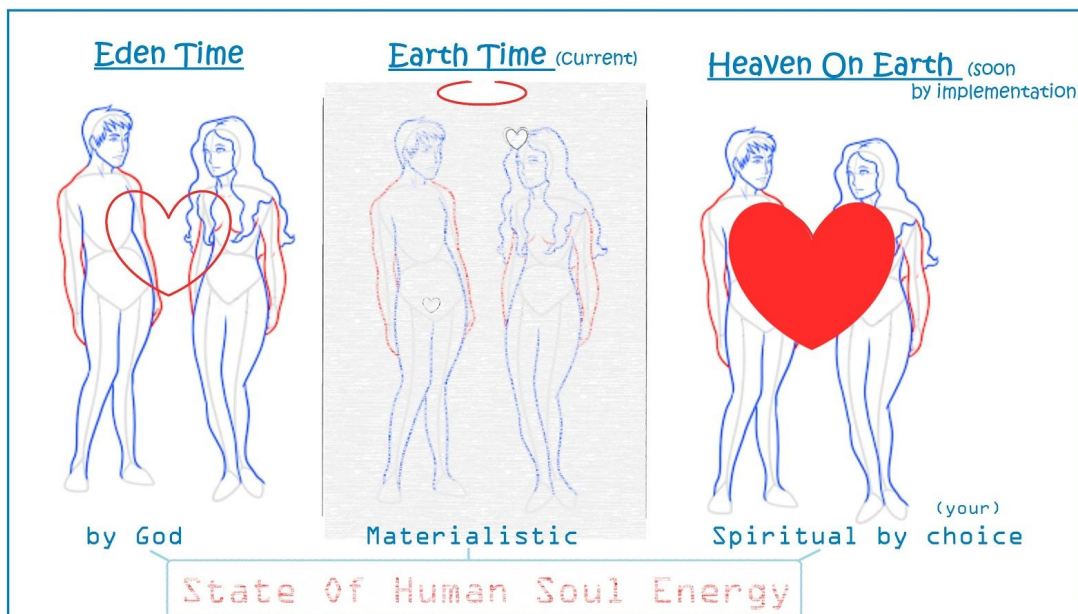

A human perverted her own peaceful reality perception (bit an apple) and out of the conditions she set to herself from that point, everyone else's confusion only advanced in time. People obtained physical frame to build their own world (without creator's intrusion) and became "conscious of delusional", "doubtful of deliverance" and "centric to their own ego", the world that we built for ourselves, which is you to decide- whether it is of the knowledge of our mutual source or the intentional depriving of the very knowledge by choice. On smaller scale you may see it in everyday life throbbing our situations. The (delusional) issues are the same to the very day:

- why are we naked? our bodies are different from each other and there are threats;
- why do we share everything? when some should be mine only;
- how can i own more, get more opportunities and get power upon others;
- unless anyone sees can i infringe wider scale?

Consequently we created an entity like "consciousness of our own" and to this day do not realise in full what for, we need to agree that the order of things people establish does not make sense, because of its materialistic basis -physically obtaining as much as we can in expense of others is degrading whether we call it development or not. We live in a separate dimension that we created to ourselves and obviously screw it the faster it winds up the confusion and the more it is aggravated. We, people, thought that we can do it better than it was represented initially, but inevitably will come to the only way out of the trap we created for ourselves.

of Confusion
The fruit of the Tree of Knowledge was forbidden.

May we comprehend the process of our addictions and influences and presume how did it get so complicated, when we merely started to try to find the balance between giving birth and affording to give the birth. The current world perception is fake, disoriented and unsatisfied, motivated by dimensionally different values from what is originally considered of such. For instance if we build a world in which there's no money, but need is instantly fulfilled in real time by the appropriate offer and security prevails by default- then a girl, any girl really, would look at a man from the totally different perspective than of ability for generating and protecting their material or physical security, she will not need a man to build a material basis simply because it already exists and automated for everyone with no lack or delay whatsoever. Consequently people shall return to innocent initial values of self for "support and care", yet look for what they lack spiritually in themselves and with whom they would feel "at home" to complete their wholesomeness and establish unity.

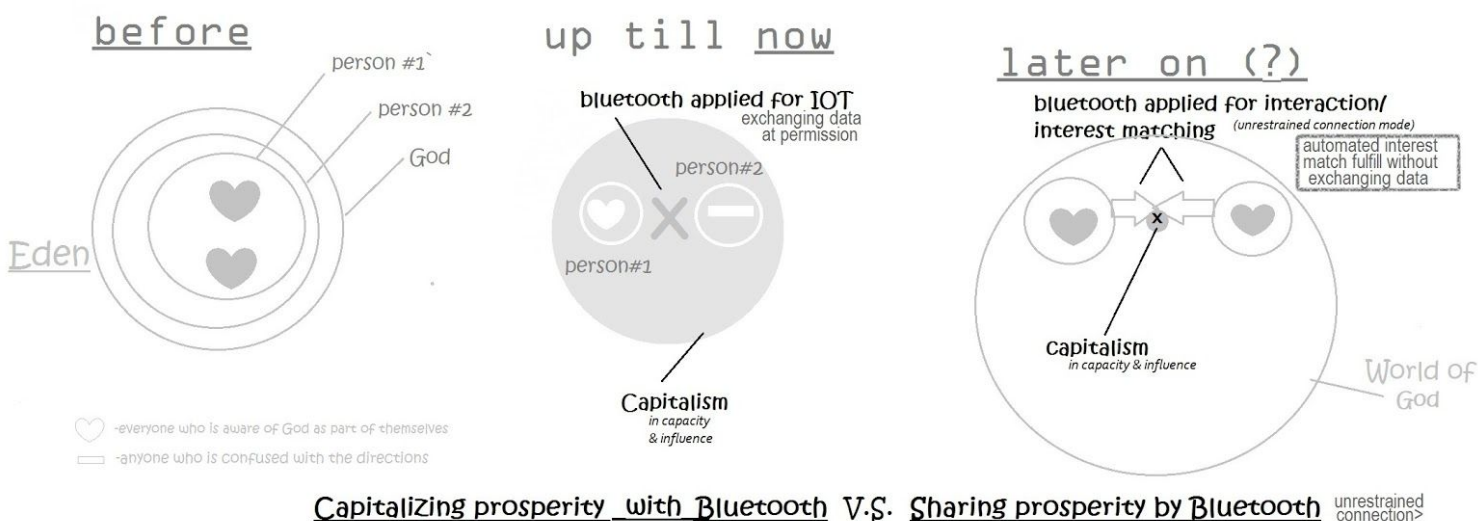

At the moment, people try to idealize the partner they are looking for and do not realise that when they see someone who is shiny happy or close to what they consider “perfect”, the very person is in unity with someone and is a reflection of the relationship with his partner. If he was to make a hole in this unity or rip it apart, you would not want him anymore because he would get back to his “lacks” and unattractiveness. At FSP (free sharing prosperity) conditions finding a partner will be a matter of walking out the door, because all people have similar needs and offers and consequently interacting is inevitable on daily and friendly basis, and “keeping a partner of choice” will be a priority with obvious values- even with our current consciousness it will simply become a conduct of finding your person of need/offer, which is soul connection in this case. There will neither be scrolling useless pictures of ever unidentifiable people for vanity fair “like” clicks, or sex deprivation and overflow of “mindless offers”. There will be a lot of loving- on basis of unity of souls, which is what we were originally made for and what has become of no sense in our current life, because of material “opportunities” people are currently fed with and socially prioritized.

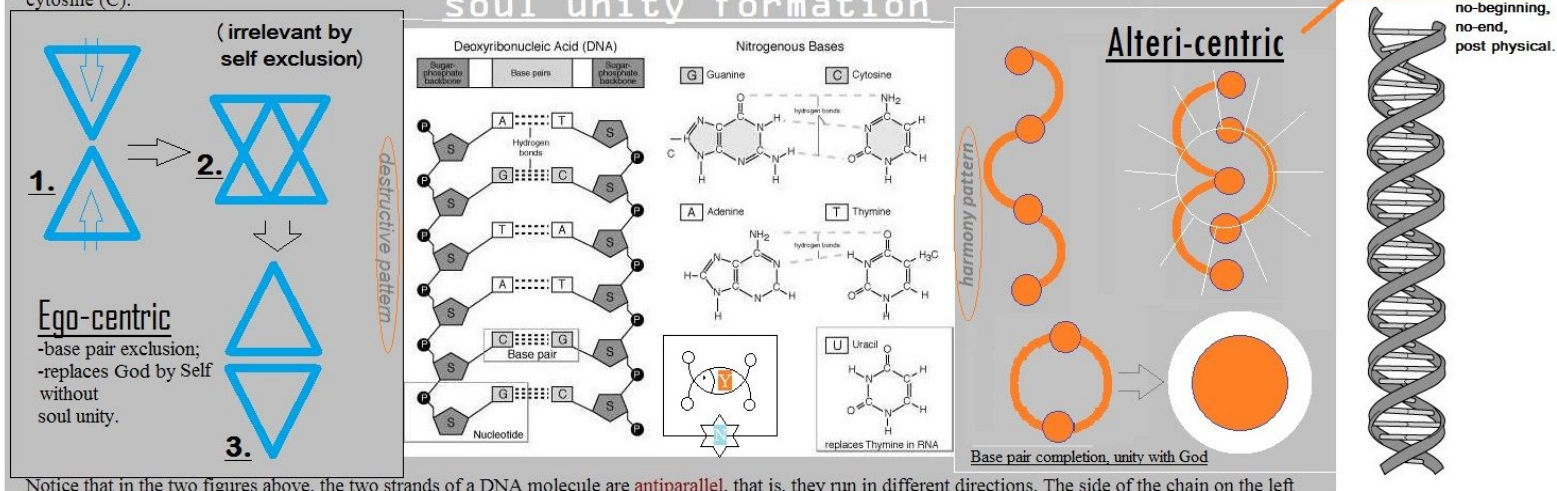

Do Whatever You want Without Destroying your Wholesomeness :)

When there is no need for a conflict and the self-motivation is not damage-based or excel-triggered, there is always a solid base for the entity that may only grow as much as you share it and multiply in expansion to keep each and everyone smile in their heart. And let Eve eat the apple and try any other undiscovered fruit as much as she pleases, because we are not returning back to where we used to be -we retain our own selves back for good. This is the future, because time never existed in heaven

Alternating sugar and phosphate units form the two sides of a ladder-shaped arrangement with the rungs or steps each formed by a pair of nucleotide bases. Figure 2 below shows the structural formula of DNA in greater detail. The nitrogen bases are ring compounds with their carbon and nitrogen atoms arranged in single or double rings. Only certain bases can pair together to form base pairs. In DNA, Adenine (A) always pairs with thymine (T), and guanine (G) always pairs with cytosine (C).

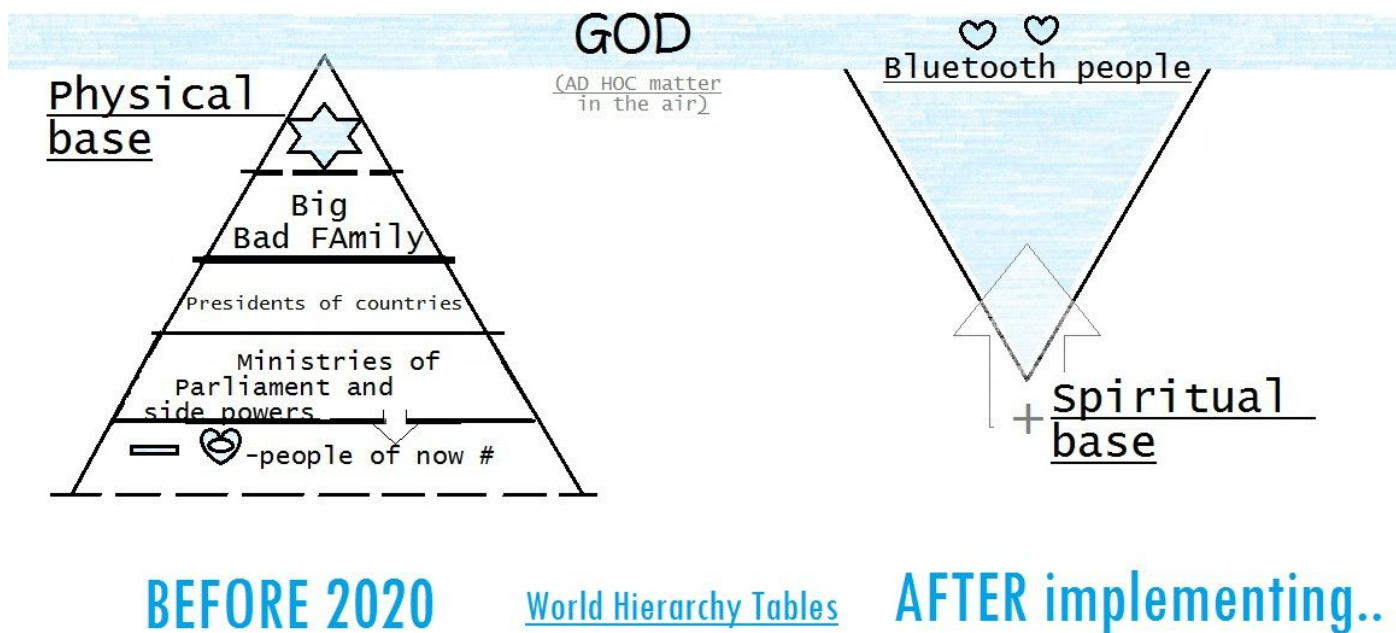

Eve has tasted the "apple" and identified SELF/EGO, i.e. revealed the unrecognized earlier specifications to the consciousness by "opportunities" of "private property", ownership and speculation, which triggered the greed-based sequences that led us to where we are now. They attained their material life by choice, not by eviction from the energetic source. They chose to live independently and by choosing their "freedom" from guidance they unconsciously limited their abilities and created the whole system of circumstances that we experience to this day. We acknowledge now how confused this policy was, how far it is from the source of our inner light that one can experience by simply sharing with/ caring for another soul in unity. We have advantage acknowledging more than the initial human souls have and are able to build the much stronger and evident connection to our inner creation source from scratch. This is the time for making this world a place where each human being would want to live in.

Whoever bans it on purpose will soon enjoy its new transformations

Did granny Smith patent an apple from Eden? Was HIV developed on purpose to stop hippie movement? Chicken pox? cowpox? Dog pox? Is Kongo the most resourceful and rich country in the world but its citizens pay 5USD (their average annual salary) in order to substitute shooting them dead in front of their partner and children instead of drowning them, justifying it- somebody thought she gave them angry look? Was the cure for cancer invented in 80s?

Does a tomato you buy in your grocery store contains actual tomato or is it completely petroleum/plastic/synthetic ingredients based? Do we get ill in order to feed pharmacology industry? Do we know anything at all in today's money-framed world? Positively you can read in between the lines, this is how Bluetooth Protocol currently works as follows: they call it "Internet Of Things" and 133 companies (any company with an idea to reveal in public can register at it) serving its lack of use and protection of security mode implemented. There needs to be a frame of what you want to put limits to in order to secure it from public eyes and so they set it up for you - you must call it "...of Things" in order to blindfold out of sight and exclude the possibility of offer-to-need match connections for.. you may call it the updated Heaven on Earth.

The new order will take the material wealth from those who were trying to keep it piled up and safe and will turn it to the bless of their life, their real life, just like it would take a virginity on the first wedding night from a 52 year old beautiful lady.

What was made on purpose, and justified using your own mind tools by two jewish families, that were indeed announced as CHOSEN because they are perhaps most aim-confused and greed-trapped souls ever breath in and need reconciliation. From the beginning of times they are being given a chance, over and over again, to stop depriving souls and taking advantage of alike ones but they kept doing it from generation to generation. At all times- all wars, conflicts, or bloodshed chaos based conflicts that start on this planet, has been generated by two tiny families based in London, with the only purpose of making profit and protecting their materialistic security, they only excel themselves in manipulating minds of others so that nobody ever suspects of their connection to it. We thank them for feeding us plastic and curing us with whatever keeps us ill for their materialistic prosperity, we bless them for trying to make us dumb on daily basis but now it's time for us to open our eyes and let their consciousness see beyond their frames too.
